LA/OC Area Region

Spring 2019 Learning Cluster #1

Working on guided pathways in the LA/OC area? Join us for the first area Regional Learning Cluster at North Orange County Community College District, LA City College, Long Beach College, Saddleback College or via zoom!

Learning Clusters

The learning cluster brings regional colleges together around a specific guided pathways topic area to share learnings and make regional connections to support further peer-to-peer learning.

Expanding Leadership Across Campus: Building Faculty, Staff and Student Engagement

Date: May 7, 2019

Time: 2:00 - 4:00 pm

Locations: North Orange County Community College District, LA City College, Long Beach College, Saddleback (participants will be sent site details as the date nears) & Zoom Webinar

Join us in the first of a series of events designed to support Guided Pathways work in the Los Angeles/Orange County area. This LA/OC Learning Cluster event will highlight practitioners from three local colleges, sharing how they enlisted the wider campus community (beyond their core teams) and the lessons they learned along the way, including the role of facilitation. The workshop will include both examples of engagement plans, Q&A with those colleges, activities to help you go back to your campus and foster a wider net of leaders and facilitators for the work, as well as facilitation skills to add to your toolbox.

During the convening, participants will:

- Evaluate current engagement strengths and weaknesses
- Develop an engagement plan for the Fall that includes a locally created “why” for Guided Pathways
- Identify skills needed for an engagement plan, including facilitation among faculty, staff, and students
- Strategize shared leadership and communication that fosters engagement

Who Should Join?

- Guided Pathways Teams
- Communication Teams
- Counseling and instructional faculty
- Student support staff
- Administrators, program directors, and classified staff
